First Parish in Concord

UNITARIAN UNIVERSALIST
Gathered in 1636

First Parish in Concord is a welcoming Unitarian Universalist congregation that seeks ways to deepen spiritually, build community, and make a positive difference in the world.

REVERIES

It is my belief that faith should open us up to new things in life, not close us off to newness. It should make space for new experiences, new realities, and new demands. Faith should flow into new situations and new relationships, providing the lubrication needed to make them work better. If we can see that of God in each new situation and each new relationship, we can move forward with clarity of purpose and gentleness of character. We are called to times of rest and contemplation just as we are called to times of prophecy and action. To have a balanced spiritual life, there can't be one without the other. Too much introspection leads to a narcissistic denial of the troubles of the world. Too much action leads to disillusionment, which results in fatigue, burnout, and spiritual crisis. Finding the balance between mystic and activist is the key.

To live is to constantly explore both the inner and outer life — for there is not one without the other. To be fully engaged in our own spiritual lives, we must be fully engaged in life itself. Ours is not a static faith. Rather, our faith demands that we pay attention to the changes in our lives — and in the changes in the world around us. Whether we were raised Unitarian Universalist or not, we choose this faith of ours over and over throughout our lives. Likewise, we choose to be fully present to our own spiritual lives and present to the world around us.

In coming to First Parish we have been given a glorious opportunity, you and I. Here we have a church that takes itself seriously. Here we have a church that sits right at the heart of this wonderful town. Here we have a place where we can feed our spiritual lives and where our hands might be of service. There is no reason that First Parish in Concord cannot do and be more than it currently is. There is no reason that we cannot prosper through the generosity of our members. There is no reason that we cannot have our voices heard far and wide. There is no reason that our church shouldn't be a leader in the Unitarian Universalist Association. There is no reason First Parish shouldn't thrive and grow. But we must have the will. We must be willing to look at the world around us with new eyes. We must find some urgency for our work. We must find some tangible results upon which we might build. Something brought each of us to this amazing place. Let us bring others in, too. Let us discover together. See you in church.

Love,

Howard N. Dana

Post-Worship Reflection Time: A New Home

The Post-Worship Reflection Time has now moved to the Bulkeley Room, in back of the Parish Hall stage. At 12:15 we each take a minute to share something that has stayed with us about the service. Everyone is drawn there for different reasons, but I do this because I seek a quiet place to let the experience of the service continue to work its magic. Please join us some time, and find out if it's a fit for you. — Jim Snyder-Grant

First Parish Staff Adopts 1.5 Solar Panels

When the First Parish staff decided to adopt a solar panel — participating in the fundraiser led by Berni Jenkins and Kate Crosby to help finance the solar array soon to be installed on the Meeting House roof — there was a flurry of activity: individuals and families examined their budgets; people sang; checks were written and passed on; snow fell; the Sunday News was developed and distributed; influenza struck and was vanquished; Tucker the Dog weighed in. When the dust (and snow) had settled, the staff had contributed enough to adopt not just one, but one and a half solar panels. The result? A proud and happy staff helps reduce First Parish's carbon footprint.

On February 7, from 7 to 9 p.m., we begin reading “The Heidi Chronicles,” by Wendy Wasserstein. Copies are available within the Minuteman Library network and appear to be free online.

The play traces the coming of age of Heidi Holland as she tries to find her bearings in a rapidly changing world. MINISTERIAL INTERN

Until the day breathes and the shadows flee . . .

I’ve been wondering if anyone rushed home after my January 12 sermon on patriarchy to read the Song of Solomon, that erotic love poem that sits between Ecclesiastes and Isaiah in the Hebrew Bible. I hope so! It doesn’t conform to any preconceived notions we may have about how relationships are represented in scripture, and the lush metaphors that evoke the natural world are truly wonderful!

Of course, even as we delight at the unbridled joy that the two lovers take in each other, and wonder how this poem could have ever made it into the biblical canon, we become aware that its characters are still subjects of a dominant male culture.

“Patriarchy is so much a part of our world, almost like the air we breathe, that it is difficult to quantify its full impact on our lives, nor do we necessarily see how our tacit participation helps perpetuate its existence.”

Your response to the service that day reinforced the idea that this was a topic that needs deeper exploration and more conversation. If we ever want to find our way out from under the patriarchal system, we have to be more aware, we have to talk together about its influence on our lives, and we need to feel empowered to act differently in the world.

To that end, I’m encouraging everyone to join us on February 9, after coffee hour, when we will show the short film, “The Gods of Our Fathers.” The film explores the evolution of patriarchy, and underscores the importance of finding alternatives to hierarchical structures and militarization. Afterward, we’ll want to hear your reactions, and then look for folks who might be interested in delving even deeper by joining in on five weekly workshops about how we begin to unravel this patriarchal legacy.

While much has changed in our culture over the last few decades, there is still a long way to go for us to truly live into our UU values. I hope you’ll join us in this journey! ♦

Blessings,

TONY

Money Talk

A parishioner at coffee hour recently complained to a member of the Standing Committee (SC) that “there is too much talk this year about money.” The SC member replied that “we are happy to have grown past the time when everyone seemed to be afraid to discuss money. In fact, we regard talking about finances as a sign of congregational health.”

Please bear with us this month as we share with you some of the SC’s recent financial decision making. Let us know if you are left with questions.

Moving Forward

In January we had many healthy discussions as three long-term financial intentions converged:

- The first was the closing of the Capital Campaign.
- The second was the continuing effort to simplify, streamline, and make transparent our financial systems.
- The third was the increased collaboration among the Trustees, the Director of Operations, the Treasurer, and the Standing Committee.

Paying Down a Loan from Our Endowment

In September 2013, Treasurer Suzanne Lowe and Director of Operations Fifi Ball created a list of Capital Campaign (CC) pledgers who still owed a collective $120,000 on their pledges. By December, in an effort to close the account, the Standing Committee reached out and collected — from cheerful, forgetful donors — $57,700. Fifi added another $10,300 of previously collected Capital Campaign donations to total $68,000, used to pay down a loan from the church’s endowment made by the Trustees of Parish Donations to the Capital Campaign (and to our Meeting House and organ renovations).

In a related effort, Suzanne, Fifi, and others on the SC analyzed the church operations available cash and, on their recommendation, the Standing Committee voted to commit an additional $78,000 of this to paying down the CC loan.

The results of these two actions moved $146,000 back into the church’s endowment and reduced the outstanding amount of the CC Loan from $225,000 to $79,000.

Audit Firm Examination

Integrating and streamlining our budget got a boost from the first official audit of our books in five years. Look for the final report to appear in a month or two.

Streamlining

Fifi continues to simplify a welter of special budget accounts. Suzanne has overseen the combining of the operating financials with the monthly report from the Trustees into a single report. Tim Jacoby, Chair of the Trustees, has been a big help in this collaboration.

Looking Ahead

The SC has integrated the Fall Congregational Listening Sessions on Budget Priorities, synthesized our own and congregants’ communications about future goals, and submitted a memo of our strategic budget priorities to Howard Dana and Fifi as they prepare the first draft of the church budget for fiscal year 2015 (FY15: 1 July 2014-30 June 2015).

We are looking forward to this year’s pledge drive and to next year’s church activities with a great deal of optimism. Over half of the 70 solar panels have been “adopted” by 60 households and church groups. Our Christmas Eve plate donations were up 50 percent from last year. We count on stewardship for our stability, our growth, and carrying out our mission.

Expressing our enthusiastic support of the exciting activities of First Parish through generous financial contributions is a great way to “walk the talk” about money. ♦

Terrific Tuesdays Are Coming in March!

Come, gather, break bread, and study together. Terrific Tuesdays are a long-standing tradition at First Parish. We will continue the tradition this year with a terrific lineup of evening programs.

We will show and discuss four segments of the Unitarian Universalist history film series “Long Strange Trip,” by Ron Cordes, a member of the Bedford congregation. These films are wonderful opportunities to delve deeper into the history of this religious faith. I recommend them for newer members interested in history.

The General Assembly of 2012 voted Reproductive Justice as the Congregational Study/Action Issue (CSAI) for 2012-2016. We will offer a series of four interactive workshops addressing issues of reproductive justice. Activities will include themes such as history, politics, power, oppression, conscience, etc. and will focus on UU theological ideas such as “Inherent Worth and Dignity” and “Reverence for Life.”

We will watch and discuss Brené Brown’s TED talk, “The Power of Vulnerability.” Brené Brown is a research professor at the University of Houston Graduate College of Social Work. She has spent the past ten years studying vulnerability, courage, authenticity and shame. She spent the first five years of her decade-long study focusing on shame and empathy, and is now using that work to explore a concept that she calls Wholeheartedness. She poses these questions: How do we learn to embrace our vulnerabilities and imperfections so that we can engage in our lives from a place of authenticity and worthiness? How do we cultivate the courage, compassion and connection that we need to recognize that we are enough — that we are worthy of love, belonging, and joy?

Do you ever wonder what our kids do on Sunday morning? Come find out at our Neighboring Faiths curriculum adapted for adults.

How do our financial lives intersect with our religious, spiritual and community lives? How can we have a relationship with earning, spending, giving, and investing that is spiritually healthy and grounded in our deepest values? While money is a pervasive part of our day-to-day existence, it often receives little attention in our religious lives. As religious people, we have

• much to gain by making money a part of an intentional,
• covenanted and faithful conversation together. We will offer the
• first session of the new UUA Tapestry of Faith curriculum,
• “The Wi$dom Path: Money, Spirit, and Life.” This is especially
• timely as we enter into our annual financial appeal cycle!

• We are still working out the details, but we plan to have an all-
• ages activity from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. when children and adults
• will make centerpieces to be used during Open Table dinners.

• We will gather each Tuesday evening at 5:30 p.m. As a commu-
• nity we will set up tables and chairs and put out our dishes of
• food. At 6:00 p.m. we will gather for a moment of silence, grati-
• tude, and a song, perhaps. Together we will clean up at 6:45
• p.m. The evening programs will begin at 7:30 p.m.

• Tuesdays in March are going to be terrific! ♦

Coffee Hour Snacks

• In beloved community we care for each other. Sometimes we
• take care of others, knowing that on other days, we will be
• cared for. This is true for coffee hour snacks.

• On advice from the Coffee Hour Snack Task Force and individ-
• ual members and friends of First Parish, I have alphabetically
• assigned 20 families and/or individuals to each Sunday
• throughout the year. I invite these 20 families and individuals
• to work together to decide how they would like to provide sim-
• ple snacks, light table monitoring, setup, and cleanup for the
• two coffee hours on the Sunday to which they are assigned. Feel • free to find someone to fill in for you if you are not available on
• the date you are assigned.

• At the end of this newsletter you will find about six weeks’
• worth of Sundays, with last names of 20 families and/or indi-
• viduals responsible for snacks each week. I will send contact • information and additional information to each group of 20 as
• your week gets closer.

Our Keresztúr brothers and sisters send their profound gratitude for our generous contribution of $4,573.50 from our Christmas Eve services. The funds will be used to benefit the less fortunate in Keresztúr.

The Mirror on Intolerance session, cosponsored by the SAC and the PCC in January, was well-attended. Rev. Harold Babcock, from Newburyport, provided a comprehensive background on cultural issues in Transylvania, as well as between there and the United States, and then led an enlightening discussion period.

The second intercultural sensitivity session will be held April 12, facilitated by Rev. Parisa Parsa (see example at <http://bit.ly/18Zuvh7>).

The Kopjafa Task Force has held two meetings open to the congregation. The consensus is that the site beside the Keresztúr Terrace (on the Sanctuary side) best satisfies the developed criteria. The task force has submitted recommendations to Howard Dana, Fifi Ball and the Standing Committee. For now, continue to enjoy the kopjafa in its temporary home in the Parish Hall!

Our Heritage and Harmony Pilgrimage committee has held two open information sessions and is working on creating a great experience for all attendees this coming Fall. See below for more information.

The February Partner Congregation Committee meeting will be on the sixth at Joan Wesolowski's home. All parishioners interested in our Transylvania partnership are welcome. RSVP to Joan at joanwes@jmail.com. ♦

Harmony and Heritage: A Transylvania Pilgrimage — October 30–November 10

When we travel together, we become an intentional community and we deepen our connections with each other and with those we visit. To be a pilgrim means to be willing to look within and deepen our own understanding of ourselves as well as to understand more about the history and heritage of our partner congregation and our connections there.

Music can be the transformative bridge that fosters and deepens those connections. Informal group singing and discussions will be part of our shared experience as we work to create a bilingual partnership songbook. As a group we will meet monthly prior to the pilgrimage to understand language and culture, sing and get to know one another.

The total trip cost will not exceed $2,500 and includes air and land transportation, meals, accommodations, and emergency evacuation insurance. Limited scholarship assistance is available by contacting Beth Norton directly at music@fp.org. The initial deposit of $250 is due on March 10. Space is limited and will be on a first-come basis.

Good News Flash!

First Parish Now OPEN on Monday Evenings

Have you looked for a time for your group to meet and been frustrated that the church was not open on Monday nights? Good news! Effective immediately, First Parish is delighted to be able to be open and available for meetings and other activities from 5:00 p.m. until 9:00 p.m. on Mondays. Please contact Doug Baker to schedule your group's event in a room in the Meeting House or in the Wright Tavern. The church offices will continue to be closed on Mondays during business hours, as well as on Monday holiday evenings. Many church staff will still consider Monday their day off.

First Parish is a happening place! Since parking and room space are sure to be easier to find on Monday evenings, your group might consider moving your meeting or activity to Mondays from another evening during the week.

To schedule or reschedule your event, please contact Doug Baker at dbaker@firstparish.org, letting him know your FP group's name, your name (group contact), the nature of your event, the number of anticipated attendees, any special needs, and how to contact you with questions.

Have you heard? We're in the middle of 30 Days of Love, a campaign run by the UUA's Standing on the Side of Love between Martin Luther King Day and Valentine's Day. It's more than a campaign, really. It's a time for intentional thought and growth. It is comparable to times of intentional action and thought, like Lent or Ramadan, and seasonal times, like the harvest and moon cycles.

Each day, I receive an email with resources to help me delve into issues of racial and social injustice. For me, a life-long Unitarian Universalist, 30 Days of Love gives me an opportunity to deepen my spiritual practice of justice seeking once a year. This is my Lenten time.

This year, my goal was to sharpen what I've been calling my "love lenses." Like many of us, I find that I spend a lot of time complaining about injustice. "They're not implementing the policy well!" "This could be solved if only..." "Another thing to blame on the dysfunction in D.C." I spend a lot of time complaining, and not much time innovating. So each day during 30 Days of Love, I pick one news article about justice, and after reading it, I think of a solution I've never thought of before. I try to think of love-based solutions.

I hope you will join me, mid-30 Days, in learning more about love-based solutions to injustice. You can sign up for 30 Days of Love emails or "like" them on Facebook. Activists, as well as nonactivists who are concerned about the world, often get tired when we fixate on the problems. 30 Days celebrates Love, and solutions to injustice that come from that Love. ♦

Volunteer to Be a Grant Reader

Each year First Parish awards over $30,000 in small grants in response to proposals from not-for-profit organizations working locally, nationally and internationally. All of the grants have a sponsor from First Parish in Concord. This year, the Grants Committee of the Social Action Community Council is asking for volunteers to help read and make a preliminary assessment of 4-6 proposals that we receive. It will take about 2-3 hours and you can work at home. We will have the proposal for you on February 15, and would need your comments by March 1. After

March 1, we will have an (optional) meeting to discuss the process and your questions. We will give you a sheet explaining how to make an assessment. This is a good way to become acquainted with our grant giving or for former members of the committee to lend a hand. If you are interested in being one of the grant readers, please contact Wendy Holt at 978-369-9558 or wendyh@dmahealth.com.

Taking Action to End Mass. Incarceration: An Organizing Workshop on Saturday, February 8 at 10:30 a.m. at First Parish in Arlington

Please preregister by emailing end-mass-incarceration@firstparish.info. The suggested donation for lunch is $10, but don't stay away if that is a difficulty. Sponsored by UU Mass Action and the Mass Incarceration Working Group of First Parish Arlington.

Enjoy a delicious potluck dinner in the Parish Hall on February 11 at 6 p.m. hosted by Reverence for Life and the Environmental Leadership Team. Keynote speaker: Aaron Gornstein, Undersecretary, Department of Housing and Community Development. Additional speakers: Kelly Turley, Massachusetts Coalition on the Homeless; Senator Jamie Eldridge; and Representative Ken Gordon. UU College of Social Justice Update

Members of the Social Action Community Council met in December with Evan Seitz from the UU College of Social Justice to learn about current and future opportunities for service learning trips. The College of Social Justice has partners in Haiti, India and throughout the United States, with whom it works to create transformative service learning trips. All of its programs include personal reflections on privilege. The Social Action Community Council is looking into the possibility of organizing a trip for members of First Parish in Concord. If you are interested in helping to organize a church trip through the College of Social Justice, contact Bethany Lowe at Blowe@firstparish.org. Brochures are available outside the church office and further information is available on www.uucsj.org.

MONEY MATTERS

Update: Review of Management of First Parish’s Invested Funds

- Related to the notice in the January Meeting House News, several firms have come to the Trustees’ attention: Ipswich Investment Management, Mill Street Investment Management, Sensible Financial Planning, the UU Common Endowment Fund, and Walden Asset Management. We seek further references from parishioners; please contact Laura Bernstein at lnrb1943@gmail.com or 781-259-9926 with your suggestions.
- We are looking for investment firms that have a strong record and clear investment approach. We seek firms that would be a good fit with our $2.9 million in invested funds and institutional, nonprofit status. We cannot consider firms that have close ties to members of the congregation.

Background: The Trustees are conducting a periodic review of investment management arrangements for our invested funds. Welch and Forbes have managed these funds well since 1975, and are participating in our review process. Even so, techniques for investment management have evolved a great deal in recent years, and we want to be sure we have the best possible fit between our needs and the services available from vendors.

This year’s OWL class is just amazing. I’m not sure exactly why, but I guess I would have to say it is their commitment to each other. This group has done a lot together over the years. They have toiled in the garden, delivered sand to seniors, traveled into Boston for Common Cathedral and marched in the Crop Walk. This December, they “gave back” to First Parish by delighting everyone and all ages with the play “A Year with Frog and Toad.”

Through it all: Neighboring Activists, Neighboring Faiths, the Eighth Grade Play, and now OWL, they are a group that understands that showing up is important and I think ... they have become friends.

And it shows. Their approach to OWL is no different. They are asking thoughtful questions and pushing discussions toward values and making safe, respectful decisions. Of course there is humor, but it is supportive laughter, caring chuckles and kind smiles.

The OWL teachers are enjoying their role in guiding our young UU’s. Each is committed to help our teens move toward making safe, responsible and healthy decisions about relationships.

Here we are grateful for our teens. We are grateful for their leaders: Lora Venesy, Jeff Brainerd, Del Friedman and Gianna Drew. We are a “lucky” parish, indeed. ♦

Love,

Coming of Age Sunday, February 9, at 9:00 a.m. and 11:00 a.m.

Our Coming of Age service for our ninth graders is Sunday, February 9. This has been a challenging year with snow and busy school schedules. Our mentors — Paul Caliandro, Sarah Sharpe, Alyssa Bigay, Laurel Doggett, Mark Howell, David Ropeik, John Atkins and leader, Jamie Atkins — have done a terrific job holding things together and supporting our youth. Please be sure to thank these committed adults for working with our youth and giving so generously of their time and care. Like you all, I am intensely wondering just what our ninth graders will say on Coming of Age Sunday.

SENIOR YOUTH NEWS

One of the best moments of my last month happened at a Youth Con(ference) in Newton at the beginning of February. In one of the getting-to-know-you games, the youth paired up and were told to silently mirror each other. Many pairs started slowly, moving just their hands in sync. The energy quickly picked up and before we knew it, youth were jumping up and down, doing handstands and rolling across the floor...in sync, of course. As odd as it might sound, this activity seemed to really bond the group. It was one of the more effective getting-to-know-you activities I've seen.

Planning is full-steam ahead for West Virginia. We raised funds at Rock and Roll Bingo on January 31, which helped us meet our fundraising goal for the trip. This month, the Youth Group will be testing out some of the tools we'll be using in West Virginia, under the guidance of Ken Estabrook. We'll also be cooking, listening to music, watching movies and generally having a good time.

If you have an idea for an activity to lead with us, contact a member of the Youth Group or me. We'd be happy to hear your idea and see which youth could lead the activity with you.

In faith,

Five Wishes Program Presented on February 4

The beginning of a New Year. A time to reflect on the past and think about the future. Perhaps it is also a time to think about putting one's affairs in order by becoming familiar with the "Five Wishes" and introducing the completed form to loved ones and medical personnel.

Five Wishes was begun by "Aging with Dignity" founder Attorney Jim Towey. He worked for 12 years with Mother Teresa, and he lived for one year in her hospice in Washington, D.C. He was deeply moved by the experience.

What Is the Five Wishes? It is a document that looks at the personal, emotional and spiritual needs of a person, not just their medical needs. Five Wishes detail your desires about end-of-life care — degree of treatment, pain management, health care proxy, Living Will, life support issues, etc. What better way to achieve peace of mind as we begin the New Year. Sue Dobbie will present the Five Wishes program on February 4 to the First Tuesday Group. Contact her at susandobbie@gmail.com for a copy of the document. — Sue Dobbie, PC Lay Minister and PC Council member

Back in the fall of 2009, a group of parishioners with deep interest in the performing and fine arts gathered to explore how we could better coordinate the myriad arts offerings that arise out of this creative congregation. At the time, various projects seemed to be competing for space and time. There was a perception of scarcity and no real mechanism for connecting the dots between one project and another. The group hoped to strengthen the arts at First Parish, to lift up the abundance of arts offerings and develop “synergy among silos.”

Thus the Arts Council was born. As time went by, and as First Parish became clearer about our congregational mission, the Arts Council developed its own mission statement and a better sense of where the arts fit in with the wider ministry of First Parish: “The purpose of the First Parish Arts Council is to further the mission of First Parish through facilitating, promoting, and coordinating a diverse arts ministry that inspires and celebrates creativity and connection.”

The most visible regular contribution of the arts council is the monthly “Arts Corner” column in our Meeting House News. This is an effort to group all the arts offerings of the month in one place, so that parishioners and friends might know what is coming in the way of arts events at First Parish.

Arts Council meets each month over pizza and salad to look over upcoming scheduled events, hear about new ideas for performances and exhibits, and when possible, to connect the dots between these rich offerings and our congregational and UU mission.

Arts Council is an advisory group. They seek to facilitate connection. They encourage creativity; they brainstorm, problem-solve and provide perspective. They are a great resource for me, as Director of the Music and Arts Ministry — and they are interested in hearing about new creative projects.

This congregation is full of talent and energy — of souls yearning to express themselves through the arts. The Arts Council seeks to engage that yearning and mutually support artistic efforts. Monthly meetings (the first Wednesday of the month) are open to anyone. See the Arts Corner on page 3 for more information.

Help us create synergy in the arts at First Parish. ♦

General Assembly (GA) is the annual meeting of our Unitarian Universalist Association (UUA), and this year it will be held in Providence, Rhode Island — practically in our back-yard. First Parish always has delegates who attend, but this year is a wonderful opportunity for many more members to participate. GA will take place June 25-29, and most events will take place at the Rhode Island Convention Center.

There will be many ways to participate — full-time (all five days), daily, or merely the Sunday service and exhibit hall, which will be free and open to the public. If you are thinking about full-time attendance, it is important to be aware of a few dates:

- March 1 Early registration opens ($335)
Link to request accessibility services opens
Volunteer applications become available (until 3/31)
- March 3 GA housing reservation system opens
- May 1 Registration fee increases to $385

There is much more information available at the UUA/GA website (www.uua.org/ga). Volunteering is a significant commitment (24 hours) but can be a lot of fun; and in exchange, the registration fee is waived. If you are thinking of attending, please contact Alice VanDeusen at alicevandeusen@gmail.com — especially if you would like to be a delegate. Much more information to follow. Watch for information tables at coffee hour. ♦

CONCORD AREA HUMANISTS and FIRST PARISH HUMANIST COUNCIL

7 p.m. Wednesday 12 February
in First Parish Hall, 20 Lexington Rd, Concord MA

Invite you to a Birthday Party for
CHARLES DARWIN & ABRAHAM LINCOLN

Our speaker, Dr Henry Vaillant will share his views on the importance of these historic figures who so influenced the world in which we live. Henry is already well known to many as knowledgeable, wise, humorous, and a good story-teller. He has taught at Harvard, Tufts, and Northeastern. He practiced medicine in Acton for 37 years. Henry held many offices at Emerson Hospital, including President of the Medical Department of Medicine. Staff, and Chair of the He now enjoys retirement.

Interested in Darwin since Beagle 50 years ago, he recently visited the Galapagos. Lincoln was a boyhood hero who became even more fascinating the older Henry became. Themes will include: how both men were Frontier Explorers, fundamentally conservative and yet profoundly revolutionary. And, how medical advances may change the evolution of Homo Sapiens?

It will be a festive occasion, in honor also of others with the same birthday. Period music will be played by violinist Siri Smedvig who weaves magic into her music. Enjoy birthday cake and other refreshments. You are invited to bring a small treat to share if you would like. An RSVP will help us plan, sent to pne@aol.com with "DARWIN" in subject line. Please tell us if it is your birthday as well, so we can celebrate it. Come and enjoy!
